

Over the Limit 2012 Preview

We really have to do this don't we? This is one of the least interesting PPVs I can remember in years but it has to be done. Let's get to it. To get the obvious out of the way, Big Show/Lesnar interfere to help Ace win and set up the nonsense for the rest of the summer. This is about as obvious as you can get.

Since the match hasn't been talked about at all, I'll go with Punk via a coin flip. I do however think Bryan will get the title eventually though.

I'll go with Sheamus to retain as well. The only other option is Del Rio. This is the match I'm looking forward to the most by far as I've liked the build pretty well.

The tag champions will retain because they're setting up the champions vs. the Colons.

Layla to retain.

Kane to destroy Ryder on the pre-show.

That's the whole announced card so far: 5 matches and a pre-show match. They'll add two matches or so more than likely.

Thoughts/Predictions?