

Somewhat Big Announcement

In the immortal words of one of my heroes Lucille Ball, I've got an idea. I've already started this, but starting October 24, I'll be posting NEW versions of the Big Four PPVs. Just like I do every year, I'll be counting up to the new Survivor Series, Royal Rumble, Wrestlemania and Summerslam, but between now and the time the count-ups begin, I'll be rewatching and re-reviewing ALL of the shows. Those were the first reviews I ever did and I'm really not that happy with the quality levels, so I think it's time for a redo. before anyone asks, no, I won't be doing any other PPVs over again. Most of them other than these are from when I had a better idea of what I was doing. The other ones from this time period are In Your House, and I don't think people (myself included) care enough to have those redone.

KB