Announcing A New Series: On This Day

You have to have the start of Edge's theme song in your head as you read that. The idea is simple: every day (as far as I can) in 2013, I'm going to post a show that either occurred or aired on that day of the year. I'll try to stay away from taped shows but if there's nothing else I can do then I'll have to go with that. It might be from a major company, it might be an indy company, it might be something you've never heard of, but it'll be once a day for 365 days. I hope you enjoy it.
