

Wrestlemania 29 Outsells Wrestlemania 28

At least in North America. According to Meltzer, it had 750,000 North American buys, putting it slightly ahead of last year's show. It also made approximately $5 million more than last year.

WWE really is dying with Cena on top though. No one would EVER pay to see him in the main event of Wrestlemania in a match where it was pretty obvious he was winning the title.

I'm rather surprised but also rather pleased with these results so far.
