

Jesse Sorensen Released By TNA

The more I think about this the less I like it. Yeah the guy is injured and will likely never wrestle again, but are you telling me there isn't some job for him in the company? You can't even have the guy answer the phones? Now obviously if he asked for his release or is being given a backstage job (which I believe he already had) that's a different story, but the guy had his neck broken working for you all. If you can afford Brooke Hogan and Garrett Bischoff, you can afford this guy.