

Thought of the Day: Two Notes About The End Of The Monday Night Wars

I've mentioned one of these before. 1. ECW went out of business about two weeks after WCW did. It's a stretch, but for those two weeks, ECW was the second biggest wrestling company in the United States.

2. For all the people that pine for competition and want the Wars back, may I remind you that the greatest show of all time (X7) happened after the Wars were over?
