

Raw Rating

It's still not a good sign. Raw got a 2.71, down from last week. Monday Night Football last night was a horrible matchup, meaning it shouldn't have been much competition for WWE. The numbers have been down since the start of both the Bryan push as well as the new regime storyline. Bryan isn't the main focus but he's still a big deal on the show. These ratings aren't a good sign for his long term future as a top guy though.