

Required Viewing #7: The History

Speaking of incredible video packages. It's early 2002 and Ric Flair has taken over half of the WWF. Vince refused to accept this and one night on Smackdown announced that he was going to poison his own company by bringing in the NWO. Flair knew what this meant and made one last Hail Mary attempt to stop Vince from doing this. Here's what he did. This is as good a video package as I've ever seen, even better than My Way.

I'd LOVE an up to date one of these.