

Payback 2014 Preview

Last year's show was pretty awesome so hopefully this one lives up to it's Papa. Let's get to it.

We'll start with the preshow as always. This is one of the obvious matches as there's no way they're unmasking Torito and take away any money they could get from selling bull masks. Hornswoggle can leave 3MB and start getting evil to promote the Leprechaun movie. The match should be fun though as both guys can actually work a match.

I'll get the other obvious match out of the way: Rusev destroys Big E. for his first meaningful win. No questions here.

Paige retains the Divas Title. She's too big of a deal to not get the belt here, and are people really going to complain about Alicia Fox having a push wasted? I could go for her in those white shorts again though.

Barrett beats Van Dam. There's just no reason for RVD to win but the match should be entertaining enough.

I think Cesaro vs. Sheamus goes to a draw and Sheamus keeps the belt. Hopefully they're not tying Cesaro down to the US Title and let him get the briefcase or maybe even the title. Either way it would seem he's heading for a match with Brock so why give him a worthless midcard title? The match should be good though.

That leaves us with the two main events. I'm hoping Bray beats Cena, as Cena beating him for three seconds was bad enough, but keeping him down for ten seconds would just be horrible. Bray winning would allow him to do a bunch of crazy stuff that could be very interesting. I'm really not sure where he's going, but it's in a bad direction if Cena beats him. Also it's not like Cena hasn't lost a last man standing match before so this isn't the biggest stretch in the world.

Finally, Shield almost has to beat Evolution. There's just no reason for Evolution to win here as they have nothing to gain and with Batista likely leaving, it would be a good way to get him out. The elimination and anything goes rules should make things even more entertaining.

For a bonus, I think Bryan hands over the title, even though it means sitting through a lot of stupid drama that involves the Bellas and Stephanie getting WAY too much screen time. Bryan can bring the acting at times though and he'll likely get a lot of time to do so tomorrow night. I still think the title goes above the ring at Money in the Bank, which should be a good way to get some people to care

Overall Payback looks predictable but entertaining. To be fair, that's almost the same thing that was said about Wrestlemania and it was one of the best shows I've ever seen. This has a lot of potential to be awesome and hopefully it means we have a good summer to look forward to.
