

Another Sign That NXT Is Smart

They're having a bunch of the Dusty Classic matches at house shows. Instead of just having the matches at Full Sail and probably wearing out the live crowd, they're mixing the schedule up. My guess is we'll only see clips of some of these matches instead of the full version and that's a good decision. You don't need to see every match in full to get the gist of the tournament.

Again: NXT thinks this stuff through and gets the best results possible.
