

Chavo Guerrero Sr. Passes Away at 68

He had been diagnosed with liver cancer earlier this year so this wasn't the biggest shock. It's still never a good thing to see happen though. He and his brothers gave a Chicago crowd one of the biggest shocks ever at SuperClash III with all their crazy high spots that no one around there had ever seen before. Check that match out if you've never seen the Guerrero Brothers as a team. It's on the Network and features a young and unknown Cactus Jack as one of the opponents.
