

Tom Zenk (Z-Man) Passes Away at 59

<https://411mania.com/wrestling/wcw-ww-e-alumnus-tom-zenk-passes-away-fifty-nine/>

I was always a fan of the guy. He wasn't a huge star or ever anything close but he had a good look and was perfect as a pretty boy. You would probably remember him best as part of the Can-Am Connection, who opened Wrestlemania III. Zenk left the company in a contract dispute and was replaced by Tito Santana with the team being named Strike Force (one of my favorites). He went on to WCW and won the TV Title before retiring in 1995 or so.

I know he wasn't a big name but this one actually shocked me.