

Steelcageforums.com (My New Forum)

So as some of you may or may not know (or as you may not care about whatsoever but keep reading anyway), there has been some upheaval over at the WrestleZone Forums. I won't go into a discussion of it here but in short, the people who own them aren't happy with a few things and I'm not sure how things are going there in the future. Therefore, my (now former) partner on there and I have put together our own forum.

We own, edit and operate the place and would love to have you join us. We'll have sections for news and live discussions, with me being around every single day to talk about whatever. There's a core group of people there who are all incredibly smart, whom I consider my peers and as close to my equals as I'm going to have (I mean, it's not like anyone there is better at this than I am or anything. Like that's possible.).

We'd love to have you come check us out and stay awhile. The place was literally just opened to the public over the weekend so it's brand new and could use some new faces. Come check us out and say hi, especially to me (klunderbunker).

Steelcageforums.com