

Brian Christopher (Grandmaster Sexay), Nikolai Volkoff and Brickhouse Brown All Pass Away

....egads man. I mean egads. Christopher was 46, Volkoff was 70 and Brown was 57. That's one of the worst days I can remember in wrestling and there's nothing good to be said about any of them. Volkoff is a legend, Christopher was a popular star in one of the best eras ever and Brown was a very talented guy in the territories. I usually say I never have any idea what to say about these things but three at once is too much to comprehend.
