

So Kenny Omega Might Be Leaving New Japan

Now isn't this interesting. Omega lost the IWGP World Title at Wrestle Kingdom earlier today to Hiroshi Tanahashi and is allegedly wrapping up there. That means there is a chance he could be coming to WWE (which seems to be the more likely option if he's leaving) or AEW (which would be a major coup for them, though not the biggest surprise). I'm firmly in a wait and see mode, but Omega at #29 in the Rumble (because remember, R-Truth has to be #30 because Mixed Match Challenge was important) wouldn't shock me.

I know it sounds hard to buy, but remember that AJ Styles left around this time three years ago and was #3 in the Rumble that year. It's certainly a possibility, though I'll believe it when I see it.

Where do you want him to go?
