

History Has Been Made

Because we have a new champion.

Bobby Lashley won the Intercontinental Title from Dean Ambrose in a triple threat also including Seth Rollins. That's uh...rather odd as Lashley doesn't really have anything going on at the moment. Is there that much of a need to give him the title right now? I know Ambrose doesn't have anything going on either, but it seems a little silly to just hand the title to Lashley. Either way, at least he should be a good monster for someone to slay down the line.
