

And You Wonder Why I Stay Out Of New York (Two Crazy Videos)

It was a rough night. So first of all, it looks like freaking Enzo and Cass are in ROH. Both Voices of Wrestling and NorCal, who is at the show, seemed to think so.

Dang it man do they have to be there? I know they get heat and they're "real" (whatever that means) and they'll get a great crowd reaction, but ROH is a workrate company and these two have the workrate of the Great Depression. And they're very annoying. If anything is going to get me to stop watching ROH, it's Enzo.

Then for something that actually was real.

Never underestimate the power of (likely) drunk people. A fan jumped the barricade at the Hall of Fame and attacked Bret Hart during his speech. The roster immediately jumped up and took him down, with Dash Wilder getting in a heck of a right hand. Hart was fine and finished the speech, but egads man how stupid can you be?
