

AEW Cable Networks Possibly Revealed

And they're bigger than Pursuit.

Assuming the report is true, AEW will likely be heading to either TBS or TNT and launching three days before Smackdown on FOX. TBS is one of the biggest cable networks there is and is available in just about as many homes as USA, meaning this is going to be on equal footing with Monday Night Raw from the get go. It's time to see how much of an audience AEW has (or can have) and if this is true, they will have the best cable deal since WCW went under (mainly because it's the same network that aired WCW Thunder back in the day).

Good luck.
