

Wrestlemania XXXVI Preview: Undertaker vs. AJ Styles

IMG Credit: WWE

BUT WHAT DOES THAT MEAN???

Here's your other personal match, along with your "what does that mean" match. This is a Bone Yard match, which sounds like something that is going to be taking place on location in a cemetery, which might not be the best name to use in the current world. It also seems to be more like BikerTaker than Dead Man Undertaker, which makes a lot of sense. If you're in a small building with no fans, the Undertaker mystique goes away.

As for the match itself, I'll go with Undertaker because it's Wrestlemania, but I'm having some issues with making myself care about it. I've never been huge on the biker character but it's something different and given the situation, it's the right move. If nothing else, just mixing things up after another sixteen year run with the Dead Man is a good idea. It could be a solid brawl, but I'm not exactly intrigued.