

The End Of Smackdown Got Me

I don't get to say this very often, but they actually got me with the surprise ending. Can you blame me when.... Roman Reigns is now a Paul Heyman Guy. Reigns refused to sign the contract for Payback but promised to win the title anyway. He said it was a spoiler, and the camera panned out to reveal Heyman. That's the first time that WWE has gotten me in a good while and it's a nice feeling. Now follow up on it and do it right.