

I'm Done With Dark

It's the second time I've given up on a weekly show and as much as I can't stand it, it's not worth it anymore. The show is hardly bad and you do get a good match or two every week, but this week's show broke two hours and twenty minutes. That's longer than multiple non-In Your House WWE PPVs (the first Wrestlemania was about 2:15) and it's getting longer. I was sitting here waiting for the show to end and wondering how late I was going to have to be up to watch it, all the while thinking about how annoyed I was going to get because it just keeps going with one 4-5 minute jobber match after another. There is so much more wrestling out there today that I don't have the interest in watching a show for the sake of seeing if Brandon Cutler or Peter Avalon moves to 1-25 first (though that feud was rather funny). It's a nice enough show, but it's not worth 2+ hours of my time and sanity every week. I'm done.