

Merry Christmas Everyone

Have a good one and, if safely possible, be with your loved ones. At worst, call them up and talk with them for a bit if you can. This year has taught us that you don't know when you might not be able to again, so cherish the time while you can. It's worth it all the time, but especially today.

KB