

Having Some Server Issues

You might have noticed the site being down for a bit on Tuesday night. I've been talking to my hosting company and they're working on it, but there is a chance that things might go down again. Also, they've had to de-activate my plug-ins for a bit, so some features might not be working. Everything is still there and I can turn them back on when things settle down. I'm sorry for any issues but things look to be getting a bit better.

KB