

So That Just Happened (Survivor Series Ending)

I'm not sure how to process this but yeah that just happened. CM Punk actually returned at the end of the show, coming out after WarGames to the thunderous reaction you would expect, though he didn't do anything but his catchphrase and hug fans.

I have no idea where this is going but I was genuinely shocked at the whole thing. It's probably not a long term situation due to his health, but he's actually back after almost ten years away and this is a big deal for WWE. Nice job, especially keeping it a secret.