

Greetings From Philadelphia

As you might have guessed, I'm in town for Wrestlemania Weekend. I'll be out at shows and events most of the weekend so you shouldn't expect the schedule to be anything close to normal. I'll be doing the shows on any downtime I have, including a bunch of indy stuff (I already took in Stardom and the WrestleCon SuperShow) as usual. I get back into town on Tuesday and things should start getting back to normal around then. Thank you for your patience and I'll have a lot of good stuff coming soon.
