

NXT – December 9, 2025: Three At Once

NXT

Date: December 9, 2025

Location: Capitol Wrestling Center, Orlando, Florida

Commentators: Vic Joseph, Booker T.

Deadline has come and gone and we have #1 contenders to both top titles. In one case though, there is a new champion though as Oba Femi beat Ricky Saints to regain the NXT Title. That means he is set to face the new Iron Survivor Je'Von Evans, while Kendal Grey is set to challenge Jacy Jayne for the women's side. Let's get to it.

Here is Deadline if you need a recap.

Long Deadline recap.

Here is Oba Femi to get things going. Femi talks about how this title is power. Ricky Saints took the title off of him at No Mercy and knocked the Ruler off his throne, but now things are back as they should be. When you look at him you will see power and the Ruler...and here is Saints to interrupt. Saints is able to admit that Femi was the better man at Deadline, but he's not about to just bow down.

Now Saints is betting on himself and undoing all the mistakes. They're 1-1 and now Saints wants one more match for the title. Cue Je'Von Evans, who reminds us that he won the Iron Survivor Challenge. He's locked in right now, so how about we do the NXT Title match tonight? Saints tries to talk him out of it but Evans wants to do it tonight. Femi isn't about to back down and the match is set. This feels like a way out of Cody Rhodes vs. Femi at Saturday Night's Main Event. Or Saints is turning on Evans.

We recap Kelani Jordan's fall to the evil side.

Tatum Paxley is ready to take care of the Culling until it's just her and Izzi Dame.

Kelani Jordan vs. Jordynne Grace

Grace slams her down to start but it's too early for a Vader Bomb. Jordan kicks the knee out and starts dropping some elbows onto it to make things worse. Back up and they fight to the apron, where Grace blocks what looks like a Spanish Fly. Jordan goes back to the knee and we take a break.

We come back with Grace suplexing her down but getting dropped with a chop block. They head back inside with Jordan going after the leg again, only to get caught in a rolling Chaos Theory. Jordan rolls outside and grabs a chair, only to have them fight over a Tombstone. With that not working, Jordan is sent into the steps, followed by a Vader Bomb. Grace grabs the chair but the referee takes it away, allowing Jordan to kick her through the barricade. Back in and a 450 gives Jordan the pin at 11:23.

Rating: B-. The stuff with the chair was a bit weird and the knee injury didn't matter much in the end. The good thing is that Jordan continues her rise up the ranks, though I'm not sure what Grace is going to be able to do. At some point she has to win something and that's been an issue for a long time now.

Post break, Grace complains to the women's locker room but Thea Hail gives her a pep talk. It doesn't go so well, but she does try.

Here is Blake Monroe for an open challenge.

Blake Monroe vs. ???

Non-title. A bunch of the locker room tries to come in but Thea Hail sneaks in from behind and Kimuras Monroe for the tap. Granted the match never started but she did make Monroe tap.

Shiloh Hill gives a scientific explanation for being nervous for his first match. He does however remember to put in his teeth.

Shiloh Hill vs. Lexis King

King tries to jump him to start but gets knocked outside and into various things before the bell. They get inside to officially start things off but King fights out of trouble in the corner. Some boot choking has Hill down but he's up with a double clothesline. Hill takes out his fake tooth and hits a hard shoulder, followed by a belly to back neckbreaker for the pin at 2:57. I've liked Hill thus far and he wasn't bad here, albeit in a small dose.

Oba Femi is ready for Je'Von Evans tonight and Cody Rhodes on Saturday.

Here is Ethan Page for a chat. Page talks about how he's been winning over and over because he made sure to learn as much as he could. Now we're going to watch John Cena walk away this weekend and someone is going to have to take his place. Page won the NXT Title in recent time and now he's making the North American Title that much important. He's the biggest superstar around...but the lights go out and Tony D'Angelo (who returned at Deadline) is back to lay him out with a spinebuster. That might be the end of Page's rather impressive reign.

Ava has Dion Lennox, Myles Borne, Leon Slater and Joe Hendry in her office. They all tied at Deadline, so they're in a four way for the #1 contendership to the NXT Title at New Year's Evil. Ethan Page storms in to complain about everything and gets mocked by Borne.

Wren Sinclair vs. Sol Ruca

Kendal Grey is here with Sinclair. They hit the ropes a few times to start fast with Ruca getting two off a rollup. They trade rollups for two more each until Sinclair takes her down and starts working on the leg. Ruca is back up with some running elbows and a missile dropkick. A butterfly suplex drops Ruca, who knocks Sinclair into the corner. That means the Sol Snatcher can finish Sinclair off at 3:33.

Rating: C+. They didn't have time to do much here but anything involving the Sol Snatcher is going to work. It just looks cool and has become Ruca's signature spot, which has helped turn her into a star. If she isn't brought up to the main roster sooner or later, she'll be around the NXT Title. Or getting speared by Zaria.

Post match Zaria comes out to glare and Ruca leaves through the crowd to get to her.

Post break Grey and Sinclair are still in the ring with Fatal Influence joining them. Jacy Jayne says Grey has done well but this is as good as it's going to get. Grey's stock is doing well but her reality is going to slap her in the face at New Year's Evil. Then these people will move on to the next new flavor of the month. Yeah she's won the Evolve Women's Title but the NXT Title is on another level.

Jayne brags about herself but Grey says she's the one with the momentum now. No one is expecting Grey to win, just like no one was expecting Jayne to win the title in the first place. The best part of being the underdog is seeing people's faces when the underdog bites back. Sinclair suggests she's coming after the Women's Speed Title and the big brawl is on, with Fatal Influence standing tall.

Hank & Tank have gone to Pro Wrestling Noah and won their GHC Tag Team Titles. Granted they lost them less than two weeks later, but it's better than nothing.

Hank & Tank are back, now in Japanese robes. OTM comes in and a match is set for next week.

Blake Monroe complains to Ava about the attack by Thea Hail. Ava gives Hail a title match next week.

Sol Ruca and Zaria make peace because friends fight.

We look at Stacks becoming the TNA International Champion at Friday's Final Resolution.

NXT Title: Je'Von Evans vs. Oba Femi

Femi is defending and powers Evans around to start. Evans' running knee gets two and Femi is a bit rocked early on. Femi misses a boot in the corner and gets taken down by a running kick to the face. A big backbreaker gets Femi out of trouble and we hit the chinlock. Back up and Femi is sent outside, where he counters an Asai moonsault into a drop onto the apron.

Femi drops him face first onto the apron again and we take a break. We come back with Evans grabbing a hurricanrana out to the floor, followed by another on the floor. Femi Pounces Evans onto the announcers' table (Booker takes a nice bump getting away) but Evans beats the count back in.

Evans is actually up with a frog splash to the back and another to the chest gets two. Femi is sent outside again for the big dive, followed by a German suplex for two back inside. A big elbow to the face gives Femi two more but the Fall From Grace is countered into a cutter. There's the top rope cutter...but Ricky Saints pulls the referee. Evans takes him out and goes back inside, where he gets elbowed in the face a few times. The Fall From Grace retains the title at 13:47.

Rating: B+. These two work well together as Evans is an incredible athlete who has the size to make for an interesting challenger to Femi. They had me wondering if the title was going to change here, which granted might have something to do with the Cody Rhodes match coming up on Saturday. That aside, this was a heck of a match as Evans had the crowd wanting to see him win the big one, which is going to happen one day to a massive reaction.

Overall Rating: B. They pulled off a nice balancing act here with the fallout from Deadline, setting up New Year's Evil and doing something this week too. That's a heck of a thing to do and they managed to make it work in the end, with an awesome main event on top of it. I'm digging what NXT is presenting and hopefully they can keep that up, as it can make for some rather good stuff.

Results

Kelani Jordan b. Jordynne Grace – 450

Shiloh Hill b. Lexis King – Belly to back neckbreaker

Sol Ruca b. Wren Sinclair – Sol Snatcher

Oba Femi b. Je'Von Evans – Sitout Fall From Grace

Remember to follow me on Twitter and Bluesky @kbreviews and head over to my Amazon author page with 30 different cheap wrestling books at:

<http://www.amazon.com/Thomas-Hall/e/B00E6282W6>