

AAA Rey de Reyes 2026 Night Three: Even The Weak Stuff Works (Includes Full Video)

Rey de Reyes 2026 Night Three

Date: March 28, 2026

Location: Auditorio GNP Seguros, Puebla, Mexico

Commentators: John Bradshaw Layfield, Rey Mysterio, Corey Graves

It's the last night of Rey de Reyes and oddly enough, the biggest matches have been used up. There are still a few things to cover here though and we should be in for some good stuff. That has been the case around here in the first two weeks and I want to see where this goes after the big event is over. Let's get to it.

Here are last week's results if you need a recap.

The opening video talks about having what it takes to become forged into greatness. I believe the opening is the same as the previous two weeks, but it does move into clips about the remaining matches and talks about the final week of the show.

Cruiserweight Title: Jack Cartwheel vs. TJ Perkins vs. Dragon Lee vs. Laredo Kid

Kid is defending and this is one fall to a finish. Kid goes right after Perkins to start but it gets broken up, with Lee getting in some stomps to both of them. Cartwheel's diving hurricanrana off the apron takes out Lee though and it's Cartwheel with an Asai moonsault to knock down the pile. Back in and Lee knocks Kid down for two, followed by a bridging German suplex for the same.

Perkins is back up with kind of a double abdominal stretch to Lee and Kid, with Cartwheel making the save. Cartwheel takes out Lee and Perkins and hits the springboard flipping splash onto Lee. The sitout powerbomb gets two on Perkins with the other two making the save, leaving everyone down. Perkins is dropkicked to the floor and Kid is sent outside as well, with Cartwheel dropkicking Lee out too.

Cartwheel isn't done and hits a big cartwheel dive onto the other three but Perkins crotches him on top. Lee superplexes Kid down to give Perkins two, with Lee making the save. Perkins gives Lee a Detonation Kick but gets caught with Cartwheel's spinning moonsault...but the landing bounces Cartwheel into a Styles Clash from Lee, which lands on Perkins for a bonus. Kid breaks up a cover on...I have no idea and strikes it out with Lee. A running flipping DDT drops Lee but he's right back with a running knee.

Kid takes Lee up but gets sunset bombed down by Cartwheel. Lee is able to block a super wheelbarrow rollup and double stomps Cartwheel on the back. Operation Dragon hits Cartwheel, with Perkins hitting a top rope legdrop for the save. Kid breaks up Perkins' cover and a double superkick sends Perkins outside. Lee gives Cartwheel a big running flip dive but comes up holding his knee. Perkins misses a belt shot and gets taken down with a poisonrana. A curb stomp retains the title at 13:19.

Rating: B+. This was pretty much exactly as advertised, with everyone doing a bunch of spots and flying all over the place. That's exactly what you expect with a Cruiserweight Title match, especially involving four people. Cartwheel and Lee got to stand out but Kid retains in the end to continue his record reign. Very fast paced, entertaining match.

Post match Rey Fenix comes out for the staredown with Kid.

Las Toxicas are proud of Flammer for her record reign as Reina de Reinas. There's going to be a big celebration on April 11 in Mexico City. Champagne and men will be provided. Oh and there's some woman named Sussy Love who she has to beat first but it shouldn't be a problem.

We recap El Fiscal vs. Abismo Negro (I believe the same video from a few weeks ago) to set up their latest grudge match. Apparently they're fighting over the Abismo Negro name, with Fiscal being the son of the original Abismo Negro, while this one took the name in a bad direction as part of Los Vipers (I think).

Abismo Negro vs. El Fiscal

Fiscal jumps him to start and hits a dive before going back inside to slug away. A clothesline puts Abismo down and it's time to start slugging away. Abismo ties him in the corner for a dropkick and a big clothesline cuts off Fiscal's comeback (JBL approves). The chinlock goes on before Abismo just slaps him in the face. That earns him a double leg takedown but Abismo blocks a Tombstone (illegal in Mexico). Abismo tries one of his own but gets rolled up for the pin at 6:34.

Rating: B-. This had me thinking of Jake Roberts vs. Randy Savage at This Tuesday In Texas, as it was clear that they hated each other but they didn't have much time to do the actual match. Fiscal pretty much had to win for the sake of the honor of his own name, though the ending feels like it's setting up another match. You could feel the hatred between these two though and it came off as a fight, which is how it should have felt.

Post match Abismo jumps Fiscal and tombstones him onto the announcers' table (which doesn't break). Points for the medical team, as the stretcher is RIGHT THERE.

Here's what's coming next week.

Here is El Ojo for a chat. Dorian Roldan didn't expect much from this crowd and the fans should have cheered for El Hijo del Vikingo. They have turned their back on him and need to get over Vikingo turning his back on them. Vikingo calls Mini Vikingo dumb and he doesn't know what he's gotten into. Last time, Mini Vikingo's mother was crying, so buy her a lot of tissues for what he's got planned. Vikingo is ready to go to Wrestlemania as the Intercontinental Champion because he's seen the stupid man with the title.

So Penta can get out here with his dumb dance...and here he is, complete with the dance. Penta acknowledges Vikingo's skill but doesn't like Roldan, who turns everything he touches to trash. Vikingo doesn't respect his town and his mother doesn't like him. He's out here in a suit like he's about to be baptized and the match is on. How about April 11 in Mexico City? Oh and here's the little dance you didn't like, plus a shove to Vikingo's face. Penta thanks the fans and hits his catchphrase to wrap it up. That's a big match, as they're definitely making the Mexico City show feel important.

Overall Rating: B. This show did a nice job of covering a few things, as not only did it have the very good opener, but it also bridged things forward. We have the Intercontinental Title match and Flammer's celebration announced for April 11, albeit with another title defense for Flammer in the way. While this felt like the least important of the three weeks (because it was), they did a good job of keeping me interested. Nice work again here, which is pretty normal for AAA.

Results

Laredo Kid b. Dragon Lee, Jack Cartwheel and TJ Perkins – Curb stomp to Perkins

El Fiscal b. Abismo Negro – Rollup
