It's never a good sign, but I'm sure they have taped matches to make up for it right?

(Updated) Monday Night Raw and Smackdown Canceled This Week

I know the fans were upset but this is ridiculous. Or maybe there's a horrible blizzard in the northeast and there's a travel ban in Connecticut. Either way, no live show tonight. It's not clear what will air instead.

UPDATE! Unfortunately not with Gene Okerlund.

Smackdown will be airing live on Thursday and will basically be Raw cut down by an hour. Tonight's show will be a studio show.

Impact Wrestling May Have Been Canceled

Seriously.

If this is the case, they have about three months left on their current deal. This isn't confirmed and there's time to get on another network, but if this is true, TNA is in BIG trouble. I'll keep you all updated as much as I can, but keep an eye on this one. This is big.
