This is probably going to be the last column for the time being. I've done over 430 of them over 8+ years and they're becoming more and more of a chore. I tend to spend more time thinking "dang I have to do that too" and dreading it more, which is the sign that it's time to switch things up. I might do some short form stuff in the future, but for now, this is pretty much it.

New Column: All Elite Isn't All Elite

Call it addition by subtraction?
