

CM Punk Undergoes Knee Surgery, Status Uncertain

From WWE.com:

WWE.com has learned WWE Champion CM Punk is currently undergoing surgery on his knee in Pensacola, Fla.

Last night, after Ryback drove him through a table, The Straight Edge Superstar took a late night flight to Florida for an emergency consultation with Dr. James Andrews. A review of his condition resulted in the WWE Champion's immediate surgery today. (PHOTOS FROM RAW)

WWE.com will continue to report on Punk's condition as more details become available.

<http://www.wwe.com/shows/raw/2012-12-03/punk-knee-surgery-26073696>

So if he has to drop the title.... I can't imagine it goes to anyone but Cena and we get Rock vs. Cena II at the Rumble. I'd love for it to go to Ryback, but that's just not going to happen. What this means for Mania is anybody's guess, but above all else, remember that this is from WWE.com, so take it with a small truckload of salt.

Thoughts/predictions assuming it's real?