

Having Some Tech Issues

On Friday, a rather nasty storm knocked out power to about a fourth of the city and at the moment, a rather large tree is laying over the power lines at the end of my street. I've had to go to a hotel just to get out of the pitch black so things are going to be a bit slow until the power is back up. Odds are there won't be a Slammiversary review up, or much else other than what I can scrape together. Sorry for the delays everyone.
