

Thought of the Day: The Hand Is Emptier Than The Eye

Something else that I miss about older days.

Why does no one bring props to the ring anymore? It doesn't have to be anything special, but something simple can enhance an appearance. Look at something like Cena's response to Rock a few years ago with the pinwheel. It was something so stupid but it helped the visual. Hold something, set something up, anything. Just add some spice to it.

Funniest Promo Guy Ever

Someone brought this up on the forums last night and it's an interesting question. Who do you think is the funniest promo guy of all time? For me, it's Flair. When he would get rolling and ranting about making Nikita Koloff his gardener and that his shoes were more expensive than Dusty's house he would have me in stitches.

Your picks?