

Bobby Roode and Eric Young Gone From TNA

<http://wrestlingrumors.net/bobby-roode-and-eric-young-finished-with-tna-wrestling/>

That's quite the shock but causes an even bigger question: how in the world are they going to fill in two hours on Impact now? The roster was thing as it is and now they have two former World Champions gone? I know we say this a lot but they're in even bigger trouble than they were before.

WWE Cuts Five NXT Talents, Ends WWE Magazine

Garrett Dylan, Travis Tyler, Slate Randall, Mac Miles and Dani Jax.

Dylan is the only one that jumped to my mind though I've seen Tyler a few times too. These are really basic cuts and an easy way to save money.

In something that doesn't really need a full entry, WWE also ended WWE Magazine. With WWE.com, it really hasn't needed to exist for years so that's another big way to cut costs.

Jinder Mahal and Drew McIntyre Also Released

No one is going to miss Mahal. Drew....are we still OUTRAGED over his loss to Hornswoggle a few weeks ago? It was such an outcry that I can't remember if it's over yet. Referee Mark Harris is released as well. This is a big day so far.

WWE Releases 7 Names

The hits are coming fast and furious today. So far the following are gone: -Evan Bourne

-Brodus Clay

-Yoshi Tatsu

-Camacho

-Teddy Long

-Curt Hawkins

-Aksana

Most of these aren't huge shocks as Bourne, Tatsu, Camacho and Hawkins haven't wrestled a meaningful match in forever.

Aksana....is anyone going to miss her? She's been on TV recently but it's not like anyone is going to care.

Teddy has been around FOREVER but hasn't meant anything recently.

Brodus is surprising as he had potential but they kept screwing up his monster push.

I'll let you know if anyone else is gone. Also, so much for the news reports saying the company doesn't release people anymore.

Jay Bradley and Wes Brisco Gone From TNA

No word on why but I'd guess budget cuts. I'll keep you posted on any more names being released today.

Jesse Sorensen Released By TNA

The more I think about this the less I like it. Yeah the guy is injured and will likely never wrestle again, but are you telling me there isn't some job for him in the company? You can't even have the guy answer the phones? Now obviously if he asked for his release or is being given a backstage job (which I believe he already had) that's a different story, but the guy had his neck broken working for you all. If you can afford Brooke Hogan and Garrett Bischoff, you can afford this guy.

Lots Of Talent Gone From TNA

Some through releases, some through contracts not being renewed. Here's what we have so far:

Taeler Hendrix – Released

Madison Rayne – Contract not renewed

Christian York – Released

Joey Ryan – Released

Crimson – Not sure, likely released

Odds are more are coming, but it sounds like a big cost cutting move. Other than Crimson, do any of these really surprise anyone?

Edit: Sam Shaw was originally listed but apparently he's still around.

Even More WWE Releases (7 Total Today)

But only one you've likely heard of. The big name is Percy Watson, who has been floating around the minor leagues for years now. No shock that he's gone.

Also we have Anya, a 6'1 kickboxer who I never remember seeing.

Finally Brandon Traven is gone too. I don't remember seeing him appear at all.

To recap, the following people have been released today:

Derrick Bateman

Briley Pierce

Sakamoto

Audrey Marie

Percy Watson

Anya

Brandon Traven

Buggy Nova, aka Skyler Moon in NXT, Released As Well

I don't think she ever got onto NXT TV. She was considered a big signing for the Divas division but apparently that didn't pan out. She also went by Natalie in FCW/NXT.

More releases likely coming soon.

Rosita and Sarita Gone From TNA As Well

So I don't have to put up with schmucks saying I don't care about women's wrestling.

I have no idea why many people would care about this, but apparently it's a story.
