

Saturday Morning Slam Ending

Apparently there won't be any more episodes taped, at least for the summer. The show is part of a programming block and the TV season ends soon, meaning the show will be gone for the summer.

I never watched it but anything that lightens the load of TV the WWE produces every week is a good thing.