

WWE Network And An Adult Website

This is something I'd expect out of TNA. So on the Foxiest Features episode of the List, there's a quick comedy segment about a dating site for women who love men with scars. There's a website listed as part of the joke.....and it's an actual adult website. It's not full on adult stuff but there are various links for various similar sites. This is a case where spending all of half a second typing the site into a computer could have prevented the problem, but now it comes off as something to make WWE look stupid.

So I Started Watching The List

I was thinking it would be a half hour version of Countdown. And it's a half hour version of Countdown. I have no idea why they dropped Countdown, which is pretty much the easiest show in the world to do and the format was as basic as you could ask for, but instead we now get this, which is the exact same thing but with almost all new names instead of anything historic.

To give you an idea of what I was in for, the first show was called Trendiest Divas, meaning we're already in Twitter territory. The top of the list of course? The Bellas, with a special video on Stephanie to close things out. Yeah....I need to just watch Countdown reruns.