

Team Johnny Wins

Due to Eve screwing over Ryder. Did he put Steph's kids in a blender? It must be something like that.

Undertaker Is 20-0

And in a better match than last year.

Maria/Kelly b. Beth/Eve

When the celebrity is probably better in the ring than Kelly, she's got a problem.

Big Show Won The Intercontinental Title

No shocks so far.

Kane Beat Orton

Good match too. Very entertaining show thus far.

Sheamus Just Won The World Title In Ten Seconds

I kid you not, it was Bryan kissing AJ, bell, Brogue Kick, new champion.

Primo/Epico Retain

No shock there. Fun match too.

Thanks Again Guys

Yesterday (Saturday) shattered my old record for views/hits. Thanks for reading my stuff and I'll be (attempting to) post live Mania results at the end of every match tomorrow night. No guarantees though.

Thanks,

Wrestlemania #28: General Thoughts/Predictions

This should be a solid show. WWE has done a good job with this show as the card is very stacked. The good thing they've done here is that they've given themselves a lot of matches that could be show stealers and nothing looks really bad at all. There's enough middle of the road stuff that you could pretty easily make a card up where you don't have to cram a bunch of stuff together. The main event is set in stone and I think it's pretty clear that we know what the match before it will be, but there needs to be something between them. Maybe the Hall of Fame guys would be a good idea here. As for an opener, go with Punk vs. Jericho or Orton vs. Kane. Save Bryan vs. Sheamus for later so you can make it feel bigger.

For a best match, we'll go with Punk vs. Jericho I guess, because the pressure won't be on them as much. Rock vs. Cena will probably be great as will the Cell, but at the end of the day, you have two guys who live to steal the show in a huge match on a huge stage. Do you really think they're going to leave anything in them? Of course not, and we'll get a great match with a ton of false finishes and it'll be awesome.

As for worst, the twelve man tag. Just WAY too many people out there for the sake of a WM payday. The match is going to be a mess and it's going to be almost impossible to keep track of the whole thing. There's probably going to be interference on top of that, plus the two GM's plus Horny running around somewhere. I'm not looking forward to it and hopefully it only gets about ten minutes instead of the likely 20 or so.

As for a sleeper, I'll go with Bryan vs. Sheamus. I like Sheamus' work and this has very little hype for it. Bryan puts on good matches and the power vs. speed thing should work well here. Sheamus powering out of the LeBell Lock into the White Noise for two would be a great spot and would likely get a great reaction from the crowd. It's probably going to be good stuff though and that's all that matters.

I think this is going to be a successful show and with anything under a million buys, it has to be considered a disappointment. They've put A LOT into this show and there's something there for everyone. It's Wrestlemania and that's all you need to draw in people, but with the card they've presented with everything at least having a story and some of them being good stories, the show should be a blast. I can't wait for it and you shouldn't either. It's officially tomorrow and I for one can't wait. Let's get to it.

Wrestlemania #28: John Cena

vs. The Rock

How do you follow HHH vs. Undertaker inside the Cell? With this. We've finally arrived at this. In the words of Jesse Ventura, this is what the term main event is all about. At the end of the day, nothing else on the show matters besides this match. This is the match that a lot of so called experts (including one with the initials K. B.) said would never happen in a million years. Yet low and behold, here it is. I'm not sure if you can call this match about passing the torch because Cena already is the top guy and has been for years while Rock hasn't been on top arguably in about 11 years.

Still though, to call this anything but huge is an understatement. This is one of the few legitimate dream matches left for WWE and it has to come close to living up to the expectations. I say close to because I don't think it actually can live up to or surpass them, not with the hype given to them. The match is going to be great as it's Rock vs. Cena, both of whom deliver on the big stage. I'd expect it to go at least 25 minutes if not over half an hour, which is a long main event in modern WWE. After that you have to worry about Rock's cardio, whereas Cena could possibly rival 1986 Flair in that department.

As for a prediction, I have to go with Cena. At the end of the day, I don't see the value in Rock beating him, maybe popping up on Raw the next night and then bailing. I'm not completely locked on that, but I think it's what I have to go with. As for Cena turning heel, again I see no need for it to happen, which we've gone over many times before. As for interference....I'm not sure. There are reports of people like Miz, Batista or even Brock Lesnar interfering in it, but I'm not sure I'd buy anyone but Brock as a candidate for that. The others aren't people I see meaning much otherwise, but Brock vs. Rock or Cena is a huge main event to set up for WM 29 before we get the only match worthy of the main event of Wrestlemania 30: John Cena vs. The Undertaker.

Oh and if they do a rematch at Summerslam or Mania next year, I won't be shocked but I'll be annoyed. It'll likely happen though.
