

So That's Their Big Solution

They changed the main event of Wrestlemania. To exactly what people thought it would be. It's now Winner Take All, which is the solution to everything. There was no reason to confuse the casual fans by having Becky beat Ronda to win the Raw Women's Title and then have Charlotte leave with the Smackdown belt. Make it winner take all and then figure out a way to get the belts apart (or not, preferably) later. Good move and Stephanie was done talking in about three minutes to make it even better.
