

Thought of the Day: One At A Time

So for the first time in forever I'm watching a WWE (Evolution of a Predator) and the DVD opens at Elimination Chamber. The narrator talks about how the Elimination Chamber is special because it only happens once a year. Not only does it happen more than once a year, it happens more than once a night. Just the sound of that on paper cuts down on how special the match should be. Make it once a year or at least give us several months between each match.
